Burglary and Arrest-The Proceedings at the Court House, &c.

On Wednesday last, just as the cars arrived from the North, it was reported in town that two white young men were on board in custody, charged with the burglarious entry of Tuesday night into the store of the Messre. Bowers, on Front-street, and a vast crowd of gentlemen, strangers, and negroes, crowded the thoroughfare from the Depot; the windows of the adjoining houses were also occupied by a numerous throng—and at the State Bank corner in particular, one of the passengers was enlightening a gathering of the citizens upon the circumstances of

The statement was that, at Rocky Point, the 17th mile station on the Railroad, two young men had boarded the cars going North, on the same day, Wednesday, and had attracted the suspicion of some per sons who had gone on for the purpose of detecting the burglars, if on board the cars. They sat together, and a gold watch was seen under the seat of one. Both were immediately charged with the possession of the stolen property, and required to submit to a searching investigation. This, one of the parties refused, and immediately retired to the closet attached to the cars, whence he returned in a few seconds, and stated that he had then no objection. In the meantime, the passengers had searched him who remained, as we understand, without success. But their conduct and appearance was so suspicious, that is was thought sufficient to justify their arrest, and the were accordingly placed on the return train, for the purpose of being brought to town and examined. In passing again over the spot where the cars were at the moment of the withdrawal of one of the prisoners to the closet an hour or so previous, the Conductor, who was on the lookout, discovered on the track a blue silk handkerchief; the cars were stopped, and the handkerchief taken aboard. It was found to contain eight gold watches, the crystals of which were broken, with a number of gold rings and other jew-

We had scarcely derived this information, when movement of the crowd announced the appearance of the prisoners in charge of Officers Holden and GAFFORD. They were taken to the Court-House. surrounded by a numerous collection of citizens, and placed at the Bar, before Justices Nichols. Betten-COURT, and WALKER. By their order, they were searched, and a number of articles taken from them. among which was what is stated to be a pick-lock. found concealed in the sleeve of one of the prisoners.

A negro woman, the property of Mr. T. Savage. recognized the parties as the same who were seen a day or two ago in the upper chambers of the Bank building, enquiring their way to the Banking Room, on the lower story, and as the same who were also engaged in investigating the interior arrangements of a private residence, on the same day.

The handkerchief was now eagerly examined by the assembly, who crowded, on tip-toe, the banisters of the Bar, and the pick-lock applied to the key, which it was found to fit precisely.

In the middle of the confusion, the prisoners' counsel, Messrs. London and Strange, moved for leave to confer with them, which was granted. Mr. J. G. WRIGHT, who appeared for the State, moved for their committal until the arrival of some necessary witnesses. This was objected to on the part of the prisoners, on the ground that no warrant had yet been served upon them, and that the law required that an examination should first be had, upon proper warrant, before a freeman could be committed on a criminal charge

After consultation with Mr. MILLER, the Chair man of the Court, by their decision, a warrant was then issued, upon the oath of Mr. Bowers that he believed the persons in charge had committed a larceny upon his property, and duly served upon them, whereupon they were committed in separate cells to the County Jail until to-day, at 3 o'clock, when the about midnight on the 18th inst., which destroyed investigation will be continued.

One of the prisoners is a man of about twenty-five years of age, five feet four or five inches high, large situated on Cotton Avenue. No cotton was consumed. blue eyes, brown hair, round full face, fair complexion, and intelligent countenance. The other is taller; about five feet eight or ten inches high, brown hair, grey eyes, dark complexion, the 29th ult., will appear in our next issue. about thirty years of age, slim, small mouth, and a mark upon the left side of his upper lip, with a resolute expression.

Their demeanor was perfectly cool and possessed Upon their examination, they gave their names as WILLIAM WALTON and JAMES COLE.

The value of the property stolen is said to be about $2,000; the amount recovered is about $700. This will be a serious damage to the Messrs. Bowers, who are very respectable and industrious young men, and have just commenced business here.

Since the above was in type, Mr. WALKER, the mail agent on the train, has placed in our hands a copy of the Goldsboro' Telegraph, containing a statement of the circumstances connected with the arrest, furnished by him to that paper. As it is more precise than any account we have yet heard, we append MR. ALSTON .- Early this morning. at Wilming-

From the Washington Union. To GENERAL TAYLOR,

President of the United States: There are certain conventional rules which genlemen in their intercourse ought to observe; and there are certain rules to be observed between men in private life and those whom the people have elevated by their suffrages to the principal offices of State. The first has its foundation in refinement of feeling, which is the rule of education; and the latter is the respect which ought to be shown to the voice of their countrymen. I have been directed by these rules in the two notes I have addressed to you. At the moment I wrote them, I yielded a reluctant obedience to them, as, in your case, I considered myself relieved entirely from all obligation to comply with them. Your country, if you be sensible of the obligations ou owe her, has a strong, nay. the strongest, claim upon you for the proper exercise of the great powers which she has conferred upon the office which, in an unlucky moment, was bestowed upon you. From you, personally, she can expect nothing, after the developments of the last ten months, that will redound to her honor, add to her happiness, or render her satisfied with the choice she made of the present Chief Magistrate. But there are some things you may do which will soften her regrets at her folly,

If I be correctly informed, a rule was early laid down by the cabal who control the destinies of this great republic, that in all cases of application for the removal of an official incumbent, some charge should be preferred against him. In the ethics of a that a man must be guilty of some one of the offennounced by you to your countrymen, as the only grounds on which you would exercise the power of appointing to or removing from office. I have already told you, sir, that I am one of those to whom your guillotine has been applied; and, within a few hours have learned, almost with positive accuracy, that you availed yourself of the pretext in my removal from office, that a certain unworthy creature, urged by others no doubt as disreputable as himself, has accused me before you. I have no doubt of the truth of the information communicated to me. I know the creature who falsely represented me; I know his unworthiness, in whatever light you may morally behold him. But, General, did you give me notice of what my accuser said? Did you call upon me to answer the charge on which he arraigned me before moment-indictment and hanging aptitude for all intellectual labor has occasionally we may judge of your knowledge of its rules by the absence of all fairness and all justice in your cruel judgments upon the characters of your countrymen Practising a judicious ecomony, with ample resources, you have made your estate equal to your wants in the decline of life. But it is not the goodfortune of every one to be possessed of means or of nds him in distress. At such an hour his reputation for "honesty, capacity, and fidelity" is apt to be the only hope he has for the necessaries of life.— Many of the public officers you have dismissed are in this condition, and you have turned them out of your pledge, or the men you have ejected to the number of about several thousands have been false to pecting it, its conduct is usually upheld. To a mind capable of comprehending the results of public acts one used to philosophical contemplation would see the injury done to a citizen by placing him in the condition in which many now stand before the world. Power was not given to you to be wielded for ends so unjust; it was not to oppress but protect your fellow-that no citizen ever went to sleep in hunger, or with out the protection of the laws of his country. For centuries since the decline of that Commonwealth, it it the boast of England that the ægis of her flag shall be extended to all her people, whensoever they may be oppressed. Can your term of office expire, under present appearances, with such a consolation to you or your country? Thousands of her citizens, and tens of thousands of their kin, rise up as witnesses to accuse you of injustice. You have nevertheless, and so have the sycophants who deceive you, made some claim to the pursuit of the course and conduct of Washington. Great Heaven! what an effort! One of the chief difficulties that were felt by the women who consulted me, was the fear that the should not be protected against rudeness, or perhap something worse. I reasoned then that it would no be so, but it was difficult to convince by argument Therefore, let the fact be known to all who care to know it, that the utmost possible deference and car are shown to females: and that any woman, to expe rience, rudeness, or insult here, must expose hersel much more imprudently than she would to incu the same risk in your cities. No woman need fear to come here who has the sense and energy to take care of herself elsewhere: and she will have, in he capacity for any occupation suited to her sex, a bet ter capital than the gold of the mines. If there had 1000 females sailed last May, they would, all who hoose to, be profitably employed this day. Every thing is scarcer here than gold.

Launch of the U. S. Steamer Powhattan. A slip from the Portsmouth (Va.) Pilot, gives the following account of the launch of the U.S. steame Powhattan, on the 14th instant:

The launch of the immense Steamer Powhatta was perfect and beautiful. At the time appointed-15 minutes of 11 o'clock—this noble ship glided into her destined element, amid the huzzas of thousand who thronged the wharves, shipping and vicinity the spirit-stirring strains of "Hail Columbia," and a salute from the "Pennsylvania."

Although but six inches were allowed on either side of the ship to escape from the cage (ship-house) in which she was built, so complete and skillful were all the arrangements of Constructor S. T. The Liverpool Mercury says: "Mr. Barnum's agent was authorized to offer $250,000 for one hnudred and fifty nights, and if that were not sufficient, he was empowered to add an additional $125,000, making altogether, upwards of £88,000 or more than £500 ($2.500) for each of the one hundred and fifty times of Baring, Brothers & Co., before "the Sweedish Nightingale" starts from England.

EMIGRATION IN SPRING TO CALIFORNIA.—The St Louis Republican says:

There are indications all around us of an immense emigration to California, next spring, across the Plains. It may not equal that of last year, but it will comprise many thousand of persons. Scarcely a county in Missouri will fail to send its representative, and some of them will number many persons. Iowa and Illinois will also send out great numbers, and other states will furnish a fair proportion, al- $7 10 per M., cash, and at 90 days. NIGHT DESTITUTION .- Those who habitually lay their heads upon comfortable pillows (says the New York Commercil Advertiser) can scarcely believe that every night hundreds of men and women are wandering houseless about the streets of this great metropolis, without a place to shelter themselves. The chief of police reports state that, during the six houses in that city. And what an amount of misery is concentrated in this single fact! And what is the fact in relation to destitution in New York, is true to a greater or less extent in every large city.

In this county, on the 23d ultime, Mr. ARTHUR CREWS, aged 54 years. There is no one but feels that this death has inflicted bereavement and sorrow, for no person shared more of the respect and confidence of the community. Although physical inability prevented a very active participation in the business affairs of the world, yet he always exhibited a deep solicitede for the welfare of his fellow-man—the elevation of society, and its establishment upon the enduring basis of virtue, patriotism, and religion; and a high appreciation of the relations and duty that man sustains to himself, to society, and to God. Being endowed with a calm and quiet temperament, and a quiek and original mind, he readily attained that "golden mean" which forms the happiest balance to character, and insures the possession of all the exemplary virtues of life. Mr. Crews leaves a sister and an aged Christian mother living in this community, and two brothers in the West, now doing honor to the States of their birth and adoption, in the Legislatures of Albama and Mississippi.—C.m.

The deceased was highly respected by all who knew him, and his loss will be deeply felt by many friends and relatives, whose worth as a citizen and neighbor they duly appreciated. He died as he lived, a believer in the Son of God, upon whose merits alone he relied for his justification. "Flessed are the dead who die in the Lord."—Com.

In Sampson county, on the 15th instant, Mr. Word Drew. Mr. Drew met his death by a most painful accident.—While cutting timber in the woods, in company with his brother, son, and a negro, a limb fell from a tree near that upon which he was at work. It is supposed that the limb struck him across the neck, which was broken, this being the only apparent injury. Neither of the other hands saw him fall, although not more than three paces from him. When they raised him up he was quite dead. He never breathed or struggled.

Mr. Drew was very much esteemed in his vicinity. He had left a widow and five children to mourn his death, and also a numerous circle of friends and relations.—Com.

DR. CHRISTIE'S GALVANIC BELT, BRACELETS, NECKLACE MAGNETIC FLUID, For the removal and permanent cure of all Nervous Diseases,

And of those complaints which are caused by an impaired weakened or unhealthy condition of the Nervous System.

This beautiful and convenient application of the mysterious powers of GALVANISM and MAGNETISM, has been pronounced by distinguished physicians, both in Europe and the United States, to be the most valuable medicinal discovery of the Age. Dr. Christie's Galvanie Belt and Magnetic Fluid, s used with the most perfect and certain success in all cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, strengthening the weakened body, giving tone to the various organs, and invigorating the entire relating to steam engines, will probably be new to most of our readers:

In NERVOUS COMPLAINTS, Drugs and Medicines increase the disease, for they weaken the vital energies of the already prostrated system; while under the strengthening, life-giving, vitalizing influence of Galvanism, as applied by this beautiful and wonderful discovery, the exhausted patient and weakened sufferer is restored to former health, strength, elasticity and vigor.

The great peculiarity and excellence of Dr. Christle's Galvanic Curatives, consists, in the fact that they arrest and cure disease by out-ward application, in place of the usual mode of drugging and physicking the patient, till exhausted nature sinks hope lessly under the infliction. They strengthen the whole system, equalize the circulation promite the secreti

"Truth is Stranger than Fiction." The attention of the reader is called to the following astonishing cure, effected by the use of Sands' Sarsaparilla:

This is to certify that I have a colored woman who has been afflicted for the last five years with Scrofula, and all the remedies I used had no effect in arresting the progress of the complaint; on the contrary, she constantly grew worse; and after expending between $70 and $80 with physicians, besides using other popular remedies without success, till the disease had eaten away the cartilage of her nose, made its appearance on various parts of her body, and had finally commenced its ravages in the roof of her mouth.

Sands' Celebrated Sarsaparills.

This excellent compound, which is creating such a universal interest throughout the country, has made its way successfully into the favor of our citizens and the people around us. We have read again and again of the efficacy of this invalua ble medicine—if we can call a very pleasant beverage medicine—but not until recently have we had any positive proof which could induce us to speak fairly of it. But, from facts in our possession, we are now well convinced that, without any exeption, it is the SAFEST, PLEASANTEST, and BEST compound ever offered to the public, for the cure of all chronic diseases, rheumatism and scrofula, and all impurities of the blood, to gether with many other complaints .- Hartford Review.
